

CITIZENS' COMMITTEE SALESMEN WILL 'SELL' UNEMPLOYED TO D. C. MERCHANTS

MORE EMPLOYES TO AID BUSINESS, IS NEW ARGUMENT

District Jobless Urged to Tell Their Needs to The Committee.

BUREAU NOW OPEN

Catholic Council Organizes for Co-operation With Commissioners.

Skilled salesmen to "sell" the unemployed to local business men will be recommended to the recently appointed citizens' committee on unemployment by Charles J. Columbus, secretary of the committee. Salesmen, experts in their respective lines, will be hired by the citizens' committee. If Secretary Columbus' suggestion is carried out, to call upon local merchants with their "sample cases" filled with a list of men who are now out of employment.

Selling talk will divert from furniture, polish, serge and linens to the need of restocking in the human element. It will be the work of the salesmen, hired by the citizens' committee to go into the homes of the unemployed, and with each individual employer emphasizing the need of more help rather than the usual sales talk or the purchase of additional merchandise.

Bureau Opens Today.

At 7 o'clock this morning the United States Public Employment Bureau, at 1410 Pennsylvania avenue, phone Main 874, Branch 14, will be opened to receive the army of the unemployed. Many of whom, according to Secretary Columbus, will be brought in touch with the bureau for the first time today by the unemployment registration blanks which appeared in the newspapers of the city yesterday and today.

Chairman Rudolph Jose, of the citizens' committee, stated that the survey of the unemployed will be finished within a few days. Additional help has been obtained to carry out this work. Jose urged the necessity of every unemployed man or woman in the city communicating with the committee at 1410 Pennsylvania avenue either by writing or telephone. Secretary Columbus also warned of the need of the unemployed continuing individual endeavor to obtain positions without depending entirely upon the citizens' committee.

Further steps to solve the unemployment problem in Washington and nationally were taken up by the National Citizens' Committee on Unemployment, when executive officers here sent to local organizations throughout the country a request for the organization officials to take up the unemployment question. The committee, which is composed of representatives of the various organizations, will be formed in each Washington parish to co-operate with the Commissioners and the newly formed citizens' committee on unemployment. This action will be carried out in every town and city in the country.

The enumeration of the unemployed and classification, as urged by the citizens' committee, will be carried out by the citizens' committee. Not only is this a temporary solution of the unemployment problem but a permanent one is sought in the appointment of permanent committees here and elsewhere to study the question as a preparation for future emergencies.

That it is the government's duty to provide work for the unemployed by the construction of public buildings and the like, even though such a venture is a business failure at the present time, was urged last evening at the Trinity Methodist Church in Alexandria by the Rev. D. H. Martin, formerly chairman of the Board of Public Works, and prominent civic worker of that city.

GARBED AS DOWN-AND-OUT, SEES CAPITAL'S SEAMY SIDE

Edwin Brown, Writer on Social Problems, in One-Man Slumming Tour.

Edwin Brown, popular writer on social problems, left his steam-heated room at the Willard Saturday night, clad in a slouch hat, his coat collar turned up, no necktie, and ragged trousers.

Like the good Caliph Haroun-al-Raschid of old, he sought what adventure might befall in the heart of a great city after midnight.

And in the marrow-biting chill of the American Capital's sordid slums, where cast-off derelicts of humanity drift on in the flickering, green gaslight, adventure came to the famous author.

Night Life at Wharves.

He found the heart of the city. First he went to the wharves at the foot of Seventh street. He felt that "Will you buy a token" came the appeal at his worn elbow.

A wanderer in distress, a story full of pathos, dealing with the cold and the dark, he had been told, he would be put to bed in the atmosphere, and a roof over their heads.

His search at last rewarded, Brown returned to the fresh, clean sheets of the Willard, footsore and weary, but with happiness and joy in his heart in the knowledge that at least there was shelter and warmth for the homeless, helpless, moneyless and unemployed, with whom he had suffered.

PARKVIEW CITIZENS
AROUSSED BY POOR SCHOOL FACILITIES

Say 70 Pupils Refused Admission for Lack Of Room.

NO RELIEF IN SIGHT

Authorities Say Millions Are Needed for City's System.

Seventy pupils turned away from the Parkview school because of overcrowded conditions, poor gymnasium facilities, neglected playgrounds and limited space for the domestic science department have caused members of the Parkview Citizens' Association to rise up in arms, according to George H. Russell, of 2538 Warder street northwest, who yesterday mailed postcards to the citizens, decrying the conditions.

A meeting of the association is scheduled for tomorrow evening and the school committee of the organization, with John S. Beach, 719 Otis street, chairman, promises to have a list of facts on the school situation that are considered by the committee as appalling.

Assistant Superintendent of Schools Stephen E. Kramer, when questioned yesterday on the Parkview situation, said that the school board fully realized the overcrowded conditions of the school but could not say how soon relief action would be taken. Referring to the crowded conditions in all the city schools, Mr. Kramer echoed a recent statement of Superintendent Ballou to the effect that the board cannot begin to cope with the situation in the Parkview school or in the schools in general without several millions of dollars more than were allotted in the Commissioners' estimate last year.

The Parkview school, says Mr. Russell, cannot begin to accommodate the pupils of that section of the city, even though it is the only school in the city with the "platform" system in vogue. Under the platform system, which has come into use in a number of the larger cities, several hundred pupils may occupy classroom seats only while the same number of children is receiving group instruction in the large assembly hall.

According to Mr. Russell, tomorrow evening's meeting will be productive of a petition to the school board and Commissioners urging immediate aid for the Parkview section. A playground covered with rusty nails, no gymnasium, and poor facilities for the teaching of several subjects are among the complaints of the association which will be brought before the Commissioners.

ANCIENT CUSTOMS MARK ATONEMENT

Jewish Celebration of Yom Kippur Begins at Sunset Tomorrow.

The Day of Atonement, Yom Kippur, will be observed by Washington Jewish people and their race throughout the world from sunset tomorrow until sunset Wednesday.

The celebration of Yom Kippur is of great antiquity and it is regarded as the holiest day in the synagogal calendar, the "Sabbath of Sabbaths." Abstinence from drink and food is a traditional interpretation of the Biblical injunction to afflict the soul and was of old commanded as essential in the Yom Kippur. The memorial service of the afternoon is concerned not merely with members of the local Jewish community who have passed away, but commemorates all those who have served well and increased the good of the world.

Local Jewish congregations plan to observe the day with great solemnity.

ILL ON PARK BENCH, DIES OF GANGRENE

Aged Man Picked Up by Police Succumbs at Hospital Asylum.

Believed to be suffering from a mental disease, David William Street, 71 years old, 478 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, who was picked up by police last week, died early yesterday morning from gangrene.

Street was found in a semiconscious state lying on a bench in the park at Seventh street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest by Policeman E. K. Shelton early in the morning of October 2. At that time he complained of an injury to his leg, but the police, not finding any noticeable injury, lodged the man at the First precinct station. Shortly after Street became violently ill and was removed to the Washington Hospital Asylum.

At the hospital, physicians learned that Street had recently suffered a slight injury to his left foot and that he had been in the hospital for some time. He had received no previous medical treatment. Police up to an early hour this morning learned of no surviving relatives. A friend in Philadelphia was notified.

GREAT RECEPTION FOR MARSHAL FOCH PLANNED BY LEGION

Overseas Men and Citizens to Mass at Union Station.

LEGION MEN IN LINE

Tribute to Outrival Any Ever Given to a Foreign Guest.

A reception out-rivalling any ever before extended to a foreign guest is being planned by the District Department of the American Legion as a tribute to Marshal Foch, when the famous French commander visits this city on Saturday, October 23.

Col. James A. Drain, department commander of the legion, is completing plans which provide for the participation of every member of the American Legion in the District as well as a large portion of the city's population.

The legionnaires, practically all of whom will be clad in their overseas uniform, will form a mammoth receiving line at the Union Station, while the citizenry will be formed on the plaza in front of the station in what is expected to be the largest group that has ever greeted a notable person from a foreign country.

Following the reception, Marshal Foch will go to the French Embassy, from which place he will later go to visit President Harding at the White House.

Sunday he will entrain for Kansas City, Mo., where on the following day he will attend the opening session of the national convention of the American Legion.

Gen. W. D. Connor, U. S. A., has been designated as aide to the French commander during his stay in this country.

DEMOCRATS TO DIG AT G. O. P. RECORD

Committeemen Expected to Denounce in Convention Style.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—The forthcoming session of the Democratic National Committee in Chicago, to be held probably before November 1, is to be a miniature national convention. By express agreement, reached before Chairman White decided to call the session, Presidential candidates for 1924 will be barred and the determination already has been "signed, sealed and delivered" that no effort will be made to effect any change in the national chairmanship.

Otherwise the meeting will have all the purposes of a national convention, the main idea being to condemn the Harding administration for failure to deliver through the two Republican Houses of Congress, upon the platform pledges made by the party during the campaign.

To this end the committee meeting is to be thrown wide open to those speakers who wish to compare the alleged Republican delay in producing constructive legislation with that furnished by Woodrow Wilson and the Congress that he dominated during the first 100 days of his administration.

See Wilson's Hand.

Wise heads within the Democratic ranks, who play the national game, have intimated that Mr. Wilson, far from being in political retirement, is the moving factor in the party's strategy. It is not surprising that the party leaders if the keynote utterance of the session comes from the former President.

The National Committee since the San Francisco convention. At Frisco the committee directed that the composition of a man and woman from each state, each with equal power and authority.

This fact probably gives more than ordinary significance to the approaching meeting, composed of more than 100 members, representing all elements and divisions within the party.

Date Thought Significant.

That it is to be held just on the eve of the opening of the disarmament conference is said to be of particular significance to the Democrats at Washington, members of the inner circle of the Wilson administration.

Party managers who fought to a finish at San Francisco to defeat the nomination of a recognized Wilson candidate for the Presidency have given their consent, realizing it is probable, that the party should take advantage of existing opportunities to clear the way for the election of a Democratic House of Representatives in 1922.

Competent information has it that Chairman White is to remain as chairman just as he cares to, and that the McAdoo organization plans have been punctured effectually and definitely.

GERMAN INDUSTRY REDUCES JOBLESS

Depreciated Exchange Is Aid to Campaign for Foreign Trade.

BERLIN, Oct. 8.—Germany's industrial situation is booming.

Its government is now doing a tremendous business abroad and at home. She is cutting into the South American trade of America and England, due mainly to the fact that her exchange is so depreciated that these countries cannot compete with her.

As a result of the growing reconstruction, Germany is now doing a tremendous business abroad and at home. She is cutting into the South American trade of America and England, due mainly to the fact that her exchange is so depreciated that these countries cannot compete with her.

But her industrialists have not been idle in the meantime. And the workmen, formerly obsessed with "strike fever," have been able to achieve their ends by strikes on any and all occasions. In place of this strike fever has come the old precision of the German worker. The war "Arbeitsrat" is now Germany has only around 400,000 unemployed.

Representative William D. "I don't believe in taking the sun out of Sunday, but I know that the ideal Sabbath is a day of rest, reverence and worship, a day spent partly in the House of God, partly in the sacredness of recreation in God's beautiful out-of-doors."
